AFTERCARE

Caring for Your Plaque

Paramount Bronze plaques are exceptionally durable and require very little maintenance. With simple periodic cleaning and care, your Paramount Bronze plaque will retain its appearance and remain a lasting tribute for many years to come.

Understanding Bronze

Bronze is a copper-based alloy valued for its strength, longevity, and outstanding resistance to corrosion — qualities that make it the material of choice for Paramount Bronze memorial plaques. Over time, bronze naturally oxidises, forming a green or dark brown surface layer known as a patina. This is a natural process that protects the underlying metal and is not considered damage.

Some owners appreciate the aged appearance of a patina, while others prefer to maintain their Paramount Bronze plaque's original finish through regular cleaning and waxing.

Refurbishment Services

In cases where weathering, staining, or coating deterioration on your Paramount Bronze plaque cannot be corrected through routine maintenance, professional refurbishment may be recommended.

Paramount Bronze refurbishment services can restore your plaque's original appearance through specialist cleaning, re-patination, repainting, and application of new protective coatings. Contact Paramount Bronze for further advice regarding refurbishment options.

Using abrasives or chemical cleaners on a Paramount Bronze plaque can permanently damage the patina, protective coating, and raised lettering. When in doubt, use only clean water and a soft cloth.

What Not to Use

To avoid damaging the finish or protective coating of your Paramount Bronze plaque, never use the following:

- Wire brushes
- Steel wool
- Abrasive cleaning pads
- Harsh chemical cleaners
- Metal polishes on coated plaques
- Pressure washers

Protecting the Finish

If the protective coating on your Paramount Bronze plaque has weathered, follow these steps to restore and preserve its appearance:

Clean and dry the plaque thoroughly using the routine cleaning guide above.

Apply a very thin, even coat of microcrystalline wax or high-quality carnauba wax using a soft cloth.

Allow the wax to dry briefly.

Buff gently with a clean, soft cloth to achieve the desired finish. This protective layer repels moisture and slows the natural oxidation process.

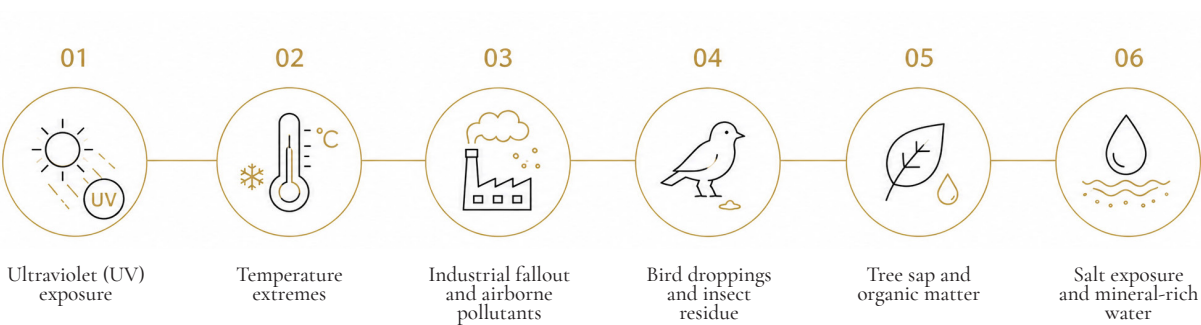

Routine Cleaning Guide

For general maintenance and removal of dirt, dust, and environmental deposits from your Paramount Bronze plaque, follow these six steps:

Causes of Surface Deterioration

While the bronze of a Paramount Bronze plaque will remain structurally sound for many years, environmental factors can affect painted finishes, patinas, and protective coatings over time:

Regular inspection and occasional cleaning will help maintain the appearance of your Paramount Bronze memorial plaque for decades.
